

2.2 Component Layout

Note that the board is prepared for use with various types of LCD displays, and therefore may not have all components mounted in one specific product application. Refer to the parts list and block diagram for reference to component contents for the present application.

The board is equipped with Surface Mount components except for connectors and a few other components not available for surface mounting.